Attorney for Applicant, iFinex Inc.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

In re Application of iFinex Inc.

Applicant,

For the Issuance of a Subpoena for the Taking of a Deposition and the Production of Documents for use in a Foreign Proceeding
Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1782

Case No.:

I, Giancarlo Devasini, declare:

1. I am the Chief Financial Officer for iFinex Inc. ("iFinex") and have held that position during all relevant times mentioned in the following declaration. I submit this declaration in support of iFinex’s Application to Conduct Discovery Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1782, and based on my personal knowledge; the examination of records and documents contained in the files of iFinex and maintained in the regular course of business; and in certain matters and where so indicated, upon information and belief.

iFinex’s Business

2. iFinex operates a leading global virtual currency platform operating under the brand and trade name of Bitfinex, specifically, on and through www.bitfinex.com. Bitfinex provides a technology platform for customers—both business and individuals—to engage in the trade of digital tokens (e.g., bitcoin and Ethereum) using U.S. dollars, Euros, British pounds, and/or Japanese yen. iFinex is incorporated in the British Virgin Islands.

3. Before using Bitfinex’s platform, customers must enter into a contract with Bitfinex agreeing to their terms of service, which are publicly available on the Bitfinex website. Customers wishing to deposit fiat currency—such as U.S. dollars, Euros, British pounds or Japanese yen—on the platform must go through an extensive due diligence process. iFinex also has in place standards to monitor transactions, assess risks, and file Suspicious Activity Reports (commonly referred to as a SAR) and other reports required by applicable law.

4. Customers who want to purchase virtual currency through Bitfinex using fiat currency must first deposit their funds into their Bitfinex account. Once fiat is deposited, they may trade those funds for digital tokens with other users. They may then withdraw those digital tokens. They may, alternately, withdraw unused fiat currency from Bitfinex or fiat currency that is the proceeds from future trading.

5. For these platforms to work, customers depend on iFinex’s ability to receive and send fiat currency. This concept is similar, but not the same, to a customer of a U.S. financial institution having access to her money from a branch, on demand.

DECLARATION OF GIANCARLO DEVASINI IN SUPPORT OF APPLICATION TO CONDUCT DISCOVERY PURSUANT TO 28 U.S.C. § 1782
6. Until early 2017, customers who sought to deposit fiat currency into their Bitfinex account could do so by interbank wire transfer, transferring funds from their own bank accounts into certain bank accounts held by iFinex in Taiwan. In early 2017, however, certain U.S. banks successfully pressured iFinex’s Taiwanese banks into discontinuing this arrangement.

7. Without a readily available banking solution, iFinex turned to a third-party payment processor doing business as “Crypto Capital.”

iFinex’s Agreement with Crypto Capital

8. Crypto Capital marketed itself as enabling its customers to deposit and withdraw fiat funds instantly to certain virtual currency exchanges including, at the time, Bitfinex. In late 2014, Crypto Capital agreed to act as a payment processor\(^1\) for the Bitfinex exchange, although the large majority of processing activity did not commence until 2017. That is, when Bitfinex customers sought to deposit fiat currency into their Bitfinex accounts, Bitfinex would provide customers with banking details to which the deposits were to be remitted by bank wire, as well as certain identifiers to include in the wire details. Crypto Capital represented that the accounts receiving customer deposits were owned and operated by Crypto Capital or its related entities.

9. Once Crypto Capital received funds transmitted, it would use the identifier to allocate deposits to a Bitfinex account and communicate receipt of the deposit to Bitfinex. Generally, Bitfinex would log onto the Crypto Capital platform to confirm that the wire was received and approve the deposit receipt. At that point, the funds were made available to the Bitfinex customer on the Bitfinex platform. Pursuant to the parties’ agreement, Crypto Capital would hold these funds on behalf of Bitfinex, but would also transfer funds to Bitfinex on demand.

10. Customer withdrawals processed by Crypto Capital were handled similarly. A Bitfinex customer would submit a withdrawal request to Bitfinex. Bitfinex would log onto the Crypto Capital platform and fill in the beneficiary details provided by the customer. Bitfinex would then approve the withdrawal request, and Crypto Capital would fund the account being withdrawn from Bitfinex’s deposit account.

\(^1\) Broadly speaking, a “payment processor” is a third party that facilitates financial transactions between parties.
withdrawal request and Crypto Capital would settle the withdrawal by remitting the funds to the Bitfinex customer from a bank account owned by Crypto Capital.

11. As part of the parties’ agreement, besides a nominal fee for each deposit or withdrawal, Crypto Capital charged no fee for these services to iFinex because it was able to earn substantial interest on the funds it held on iFinex’s behalf in its accounts. Crypto Capital’s agreement to act as a payment processor was made by one of its principals—an individual who identified himself to me as Oz “Joseph.” In 2019, I learned that Mr. Joseph’s last name was actually “Yosef.” Yosef was my primary contact at Crypto Capital and I had numerous communications with him by phone and text from the 2017 through early 2019.

12. At no time did Crypto Capital or Yosef disclose any relationship between it and Spiral Global Development Limited or its sole director and shareholder, Reginald Dennis Fowler (“Fowler”).
Indeed, until December 2018, Crypto Capital never disclosed that several of the bank accounts to which Bitfinex’s customers transferred fiat funds were actually held and controlled by Spiral and Fowler, and not by Crypto Capital or any of its related entities.

iFinex Begins to Discover Crypto Capital’s Malfeasance

13. From early 2017 through late 2018, Bitfinex customers transferred more than $1.5 billion to various bank accounts purportedly held or controlled by Crypto Capital. By July 2018, the amount Crypto Capital held and owed to iFinex exceeded $1 billion. I believe there were largely two reasons for this large balance: (1) an increasing interest in virtual currency trading and investment, leading to increasing amounts being transferred by Bitfinex customers; and (2) institutional constraints on the amount of funds that could be transferred between Crypto Capital accounts and iFinex’s bank accounts.

14. Our relationship with Crypto Capital generally operated well. In or about March or April 2018, however, we learned from news reports that Crypto Capital funds had been seized by authorities in Poland as part of an investigation into potential money-laundering. At the time, Yosef acknowledged to me that Crypto Capital’s Polish bank accounts had been frozen, but claimed that none of iFinex’s funds were affected by these actions.

DECLARATION OF GIANCARLO DEVASINI IN SUPPORT OF APPLICATION TO CONDUCT DISCOVERY
PURSUANT TO 28 U.S.C. § 1782
15. In or about late August 2018, however, Yosef began representing to me that approximately $500 million of Bitfinex funds in both Poland and Portugal were being “held up” by regulators in both countries. From then through November 2018, Yosef repeatedly reassured me that the Bitfinex funds held in Poland and Portugal were on the verge of being released and that Crypto Capital was working diligently with local authorities to secure their release.

16. In response to increasing pressure from iFinex and its attorneys for specific information concerning the banking accounts that had been purportedly frozen, Yosef began providing additional information in the latter part of 2018. For example, on November 29, 2018, Yosef provided documentation, prepared by Crypto Capital, showing that it held more than $306 million of Bitfinex funds in a “TCA Bank,” which Yosef later explained was TCA Investment Bancorp & Trust Company.

17. On December 13, 2018, Yosef provided us with a “Reference Letter” from TCA Bancorp dated December 6, 2018. In it, TCA Bancorp states that the letter is provided at its customer’s request. It represents that an account ending in -1401 has an “Available Balance” of $304,000,000. The letter, however, identifies TCA Bancorp’s customer as “G.T.S. Resources Limited” and not Crypto Capital or any other entity related to Crypto Capital of which we were aware. Indeed, until Applicant received the Reference Letter, we were unaware of G.T.S. Resources Limited or its relationship to Crypto Capital. Attached hereto as Exhibit “B” is a true and correct copy of the Reference Letter.

18. We subsequently learned from a review of corporate filings in the United Kingdom that G.T.S. Resources Limited was a UK entity that had been formed on May 14, 2018. According to the entity’s Articles of Incorporation, Reginald Dennis Fowler is its sole director and shareholder. On December 17, 2018, Fowler formally changed the name of the entity to Spiral Global Development Limited.

19. Before this disclosure by Crypto Capital, iFinex was unaware that any of its funds were being held by either Spiral or TCA Bancorp. Nor were we aware of any involvement in Crypto Capital by Fowler.

Current Ongoing Foreign Proceedings Involving iFinex

20. According to Crypto Capital, approximately $355,000,000 of iFinex's funds are being held in various currencies that were on deposit in accounts at Bank Spółdzielczy in Skierniewice, Poland. According to Crypto Capital, approximately $218,000,000 of Plaintiffs' funds are being held in various currencies in accounts at three separate Portuguese banks: Banco Português de Investimento, Bankinter, S.A., and Caixa Geral de Depositos SA.

21. Since these and other subsequent disclosures, as well our own further investigation, we have been able to confirm that the National Prosecutor's Office in Poland has seized certain funds held by Crypto Capital in Bank Spółdzielczy. iFinex has filed a claim with the Prosecutor's Office as an "Injured Party" seeking to recover funds that Crypto Capital held in Poland on their behalf. iFinex also filed a civil claim against a Polish entity affiliated with Crypto Capital that was the authorized holder of the accounts at issue located in Poland. Additionally, iFinex filed two criminal notifications against the representatives of the Polish entity affiliated with Crypto Capital concerning fraud and appropriation.

22. With respect to the funds held in the Portuguese banks identified above, we have not been able to confirm that such funds have been "frozen" by any appropriate authorities.

23. We have also learned that Crypto Capital maintained accounts with HSBC Bank PLC ("HSBC UK") in the United Kingdom. iFinex anticipates bringing a subsequent suit in the United Kingdom in order to recover the funds.

24. Based on my communications with Yosef, and to the best of our understanding of the limited banking records he has provided, Crypto Capital did not simply receive customer deposits into its various banking accounts and maintain those deposits with the initial bank receiving those funds. Rather, Crypto Capital subsequently transferred funds between and among various banks, including in Europe and the United States. In the U.S. alone, we have information that Crypto Capital used accounts held not only at HSBC and Citibank, but also Bank of America, Bank of Colorado, Enterprise Bank & Trust, Stearns Bank, Sun Trust, TD Bank, US Bank, and Wells Fargo.

25. Thus, in order to demonstrate iFinex's ownership of, and entitlement to, the various funds held in Poland, Portugal, and the United Kingdom, iFinex must be able to trace the funds deposited by its customers through the fund transfers between and among the various banking accounts operated or used by Crypto Capital. iFinex also seeks information regarding the ownership and use of the accounts at issue, as well as communications between the banks and account holders and/or their representatives.

26. Attached hereto as Exhibit “A” is a copy of the categories of documents that iFinex currently intends to seek from Mr. Monroe.

27. Upon information and belief, based upon public records research and iFinex’s investigation, Mr. Monroe maintains a residence and currently resides in Orange County, California.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America and the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed this 40th day of October 2019, at
